Derek and his wife, Janet, live in Contra Costa County and have a son and daughter living nearby with their families. Derek is a member of the Thomas Jefferson Chapter of the SAR and is a Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland; and Janet is an active member of the DAR and the CASSAR Ladies Auxiliary at the chapter and state levels. Both Derek and Janet are active members of other genealogical heritage societies as well. Welcome Derek. We look forward to meeting and hearing from you

CASSAR EAGLE CHAPTER
MINUTES OF A REGULAR MEETING HELD ON Saturday, 8 September 2018
by Bill and Faye Bishop

The CASSAR Eagle Chapter held its regular meeting at the Pala Mesa Resort, Fallbrook, California, on Saturday, 8 September 2018, with 15 attendees.

President John Huegel welcomed everyone, and Chaplain Wayne Rogers gave the invocation. The attendees then recited the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag, and the SAR Pledge.

After the recess for breakfast, the President asked each member to introduce himself and his guest, as well as say something about his patriot ancestor and where the ancestor was from.

The minutes were approved as printed in the email to Chapter members.

Officers Reports:

Treasurer Robert Martin was absent; therefore, no financial report was given.

Registrar Bruce Plummer reported he had sent membership information to four new prospective. Also, Kalim Smith, a new prospective member, has completed his application and it has been forwarded to the National Society.

Secretary Bill Bishop reported the dues notices will be mailed out in late September and it has been confirmed the amounts would be the same. He asked if he should apply for permit to march in the Murrieta Veterans Day Parade on November 11, and the answer was “yes” as they would have at least a color guard and anyone else could wear red white and blue and join in.

Vice President Wayne Rogers reported he had given a genealogical presentation, including Basics on DNA to youth at the Family History Center in Menifee and presented two Eagle Scout certificates. He will be giving more Scout certificates and some JROTC this coming year. He would like to give a flag certificate to Michael Sanford in Heritage Lake in Menifee.

President John Huegel

explained that he and his wife, Karen, were in Paris over the July 4th holiday to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary, as well as visit the gravesite of Marquis de Lafayette. WOW! OUAH!

He held a discussion about the C.A.R. being included in SAR projects, and the need for involvement of members in the training for working with youth.

Announcement was made that members should consider the positions of President and Secretary when approached by the Nominating Committee at the end of the year.

President Huegel reported he had received approval from the State Society to present the Silver Good Citizenship Award to Darrell Issa. He would contact Darrell Issa to establish a time and place for the presentation.

There was some discussion about the room the Resort had provided for this meeting that did not meet ADA requirement. We had expected a member with a wheelchair and several members present were on canes.

A discussion was held regarding purchase of a uniform to be worn by members in parades with the color guard, and other patriotic activities of the Chapter. This will be considered and voted on at the next meeting when more members will be attending.

John reported that Ed and Julia Morris would be sending Christmas cards to veterans from the Chapter again this year.

Ed Stutler finally received his SAR membership certificate. Congratulations ED

John Murphy was presented his Membership Certificate.

Congratulations John!

Wayne Rogers was presented with the Military Service Certificate by the President John Huegel

At this point, Wayne Rogers gave a power point program on Privateers in the American Revolution.

There being no further business the SAR Recessional was recited by all, the benediction given by the Chaplain and the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,

Bill Bishop, Secretary

Wayne Rogers made a PowerPoint presentation for the September Eagle Chapter meeting, which included three of his patriots- Captain Stephen Buckland, Jonathan Chandler and Uriah Townsend

PRIVATEERS AND MARINERS IN THE REVOLUTIONARY. WAR

- - by Wayne Rogers

Privateers were an unlikely role, but still Patriots; Privateers plundered British ships for American Cause, but also made fortunes to boot. When a cash-strapped Congress, unable to launch an effective Navy of its own, it licensed approximately 1,700 privately owned warships to roam the ocean in quest of British prizes.

- Essentially legalized pirates, these Revolutionary privateers carried congressional commissions that forbade attacks on neutral shipping and the mistreatment of captives but otherwise gave them free reign to rob and plunder.
- Men who became privateers were driven as much by greed as by patriotism
- Privateers also gained a reputation for barbarism in combat that infuriated the British and embarrassed many Americans.
- It began off-handedly in the fall of 1775, when George Washington observed the flow of enemy supplies into Boston harbor and wondered if intercepting a British weapons ship might help replenish his meager army and uplift his army's spirit

- So George Washington initiated the enterprise during his army's protracted siege of British-occupied Boston in the fall of 1775. "Finding we were not likely to do much in the land way, I fitted out several privateers, or rather armed vessels, in behalf of the Continental Army."
- With an offer of a percentage of spoils as inducement, his call for citizen sailors to hijack inbound supply ships tapped the same vein of self-interest and comradeship that had led the colonies to seek independence in the first place.
- As an example, 1st engagement (1775) captain of the privateer Machias Liberty, Jeremiah O'Brien later captured two armed British schooners and delivered his prisoners to George Washington. On the General's recommendation, the government of Massachusetts appointed O'Brien to command his two prizes.

An Advertisemet fo PRivateers : The grand Privateer ship DEANE commanded by ELISHA HINMAN, Esq; nd prov'd to be a very capitol Sailor, will Sail on a Cruise against the Enemies of the United States of America, by the 20th instant. The DEANE mounts thirty Carriage Guns, and is excellently well calculated for Attacks, Defense and Pursuit --- This therefore is to invite all those Jolly Fellows, who love their country, and want to make their fortunes at one Stroke, to repair immediately to the Rendezvous at the Head of His Excellency Governor Hancock's Wharf, where they will be received with a hearty Welcome by a Number of Brave Fellows there assembled, and treated with that excellent Liquor call'd GROG which is allow'd by all true Seamen, to be the LIQUOR OF LIFE.

note: my 2nd privateer Jonathan Chandler went aboard the DEANE, Prior to going aboard the Raven, that was caught by British and put him on the Jersey Prision Ship .

- The key factor behind privateering's growth from a New England fad to a trans-Atlantic phenomenon, from small-time to big business.
- It was that its lowliest seamen and richest investors pursued it for the same reason—to make money and whip the British, too.

- In that regard, it opens a window on Revolutionary society that is instantly recognizable to our modern sensibility, for the enterprise blended capitalism and patriotism, selfishness and public service.
- It was a difficult balance; whose shifts and moral accommodations constitute a basic theme of American life both in 1776 and today (Co-Military Contractors). Privateers were essentially private citizens for hire.
- These enterprising men, mostly sea going, either owned their own ships or co-owned them financially.
- The construction and maintenance and operation of these ships were financed privately.
- The privateers of which there were over 3500+ did significant damaged to the British merchant fleets and captured supplies badly needed by the

 - Captain (Both Artillery Officer and Privateer Captain) Stephen Bucklan
 - Captain Stephen Buckland was both an Artillery Officer and Captain of a Privateer. Captain Stephen Buckland was part of a large family that gave its name to the area called Buckland Hills Mall in Manchester, Connecticut, today; which prior to 1823 was part of East Hartford.

- Members of the Buckland family are buried in our Center Cemetery in East Hartford, Connecticut.

But while there is tombstone in the Center Cemetery for Captain Buckland, his body lies in the ocean off New York harbor, POW/Missing in Action. Capt. Stephen Buckland's Company of crack Artillery Unit is still reenacted today in Connecticut as an affiliate unit of the Nathan Hale Ancient Fifes & Drums in Connecticut.

- Captain Stephen Buckland position and role in the Society of Cincinnati

remained vacant for 225 years, after Independence, until Past SAR

President Wayne Jerome Rogers took him, as his Propositus in 2004.

In the Connecticut Society today, Captain Stephen Buckland is remembered 1st for his death as a Privateer, and 2nd as an Artillery Officer

- (I have three other ancestors-cousins that are missing in action (MIA). My great grandfather's brother Corporal Joel Rogers buried at Fredericksburg in the Civil war, in a mass grave; Lt Thornton Rogers WWII in the Pacific Ocean; and Staff Sergeant Vincent Jerome Rogers Jr in the Battle of Tarawa in WWII)

- Another Privateer Private Jonathan Chandler in Rev War, and Major in the War of 1812
- Capt. Stephen Bucklad 's younger cousin and crew member, Jonathan Chandler also of East Hartford Conn was on board the same captured ship Raven under his e Command (Captain Stephen Buckland), and after its capture was brought on board the same Jersey Prison ship, where he endured many hardships, including death, but his survived, and tells (as a 1st hand account) of the ordeal on board that ship with Captain Buckland! Jonathan Chandler's rev. pension was rejected, because he was a Privateer.
- Privateers were given less status than St. Military branches back then.
- In Chandler's rejected pension (as a Privateer), the then Colonel Jonathan Chandler, a hero of the War of 1812 as well, indicated that "with no change of linen the deponent was almost literally covered with lice and was sick and suffered everything but death and after remaining there about 6 months was exchanged and carried to Hartford the next Spring. He was unable to labor at all in consequence of the sickness and hardship he endured which out of 92 prisoners taken, only 21(survived)that left the prison ship,
- *He indicated in his rejected pension if he were to go to Washington for his pension, they would give it to him when he was to tell them that he had seen all manner of death and suffering on board the Jersey Prison Ship.'
- A Third Privateer in the Revolutionary War – UriAH TOWNSEND
- Uriah Townsend was another privateer from New York City Area
- He was captured but escaped.
- SAR initially claimed he was a loyalist. There were two Uriah Townsends from the same county, but I was later able to show he was a privateer.

- He was the brother Robert Townsend, the spy of the Culper ring during the American Revolution

The greatest historian should be a great moralist. Able to paint for the life of plain people the ordinary man and women of the times of which he writes- Theodore Roosevelt= Past masters

Histories are not ours. They belong partly to those who created them and partly to the generations of people who follow us

Without history and past informative data, there may be gaps

History show where mysteries still exist, accumulation and finalize

There are no doubt that past and present events do shape those of the future

A History is apt to provide for incremental, small to large alternatives to existing traditional and standard processes

“The further back you look into the past, the farther forward you may see into the future” (Winston Churchill, the master prophet

According to Steve Jobs. you cannot connect the dots in the future before you, without looking back in history at the dots behind you, to interconnect.

“What is new and significant must always relate to old roots, the truly vital roots that are chosen with great care from the ones that merely survive

Through history, something old and unapplied in one period or scenario can become new again in another.

by Wayne Jerome Rogers

Factual History is disappearing, as books, cultures, demographics, education, generations, memories, religions, traditions and purposes, times and education are changing.

Why should we honor or sustain George Washington?

Many statutes of George Washington exist around the country, including one in front of the Anderson House the headquarters of the Society of the Cincinnati

(1783), the oldest lineage and veteran's organization in United states of America. George Washington was the Society's first President and the Country's

But today there is a movement to demolish statues, memories, and histories of slave owners throughout the country. Money with President's image (e.g. Andrew Jackson) who was slave owner is to be eliminated. Similarly, in the future Washington may be removed and eliminated from the dollar bill. So, it is only a matter of time before statues and memories of George Washington could be removed and torn down from history.

We currently live in a world of ease, freedom and protest, but when George Washington was born into his world, it was ruled by Kings, rulers, authorities where it was difficult to live, to be free, or protest. Servitude (including indentured servants) and slaves and were common, particularly in the south. The right to practice free speech or action in public life was limited to men only of property. People were servants, not citizens, but subject to Kings, Rulers, and a non-representative government. No one had the right to talk or worship freely; they we were increasingly subordinate to higher authorities, rulers and Kings. Worse than that, women had no rights, but were subordinate to men of power, and their talents were silenced and stifled, and they had not civil rights. While we live a world of freedom, George Washington times were filled with grotesque human in-justices, the opposite of our current minds.

George Washington was born and raised into privilege and wealth compared to most Americans of that time. By 43 years of age he had secured further wealth and fortune and influence. But he risked everything to sign the Declaration of Independence and to command an army to obtain and secure liberty and independence for the United States. While he was educated, his army was of ordinary men, farmers, fishermen and tradesmen, both young and old from the time from all over the 13 colonies. He commanded and led this army through trials and tribulations that few people of today could have endured,

George Washington was not perfect, but he helped with many of his officers to create a framework, the Constitution to make this nation more perfect. At the end of his life he freed his slaves as an example to others When that which is perfect comes then that which is imperfect shall be done away with.

The American Revolution Institute is charged with carrying out a historic mission of preserving the legacy of George Washington and his officers and their troops who were victorious in the glorious movement of the revolutionary war. Now you can join them to continue and support their cause as a founding associates of the American Revolution Institute, of the Society of the Cincinnati. George Washington and his officers created the Society of the Cincinnati, to carry out and continue their victories and work to have a free and independent nation and to remember their legacies perpetually their descendants. Now All men and women who value their legacy of the American Revolution, are invited to join as founding associates of the American Revolution Institute of the Society of the Cincinnati. You will be joining the work of an organization as old as our republic founded by George Washington and his officers and their troops of the Revolution themselves.

To Save Statues of Men and Women of the American Revolution

To save American Revolution history and Statues of American Patriot History, The Society of Cincinnati, the oldest American Veterans and Patriot organization, has implemented the American Revolution institute, which is open to both men and women, to all Americans to save American Revolutionary History against those who would want to take down and destroy statues, names of roads, schools, towns, images on American bills, etc. of American Patriots from the Revolutionary War.

The Earliest American Bald Eagle is from the Society of the Cincinnati by Pierre L'Enfant. He noted, in making his suggestion: "The Bald Eagle, which is peculiar to this continent, and is distinguished from those of other climes by its white head and tail, appears to me to deserve attention." The Eagle has the longest life span of its species. It can live up to 70 years. But to reach this age it must make a hard decision, in its 40s. Its long and flexible talons can no longer grab prey which serves as food. Its long and sharp beak becomes bent. Its old aged and heavy feathers due to their thick features become stuck to the chest and make it difficult to fly. Thus, the Eagle has only two options die or go through a painful process of change which lasts over 150 days. The process requires the eagle to fly to a mountain top sit on its nest. There, the Eagle knocks its beak against a rock until it plucks it out. After plucking it out the eagle will wait for a new beak to grow back and then it will pluck out its talons. When the talons grown back the eagle will start plucking out old aged feathers. And after five months the eagle takes the famous flight of re-birth and will fly for another 30 more years. Amazing.
